

Student Declaration

I understand that studying at postgraduate level requires proficient computer literacy and high levels of academic language and self-directed learning competency. I accept responsibility for ensuring that I acquire and demonstrate the necessary writing and referencing skills to successfully complete the required coursework.

I understand that studying the topic of trauma has the potential to be a catalyst for reactions that may be distressing or uncomfortable. I commit to take responsibility for my own mental, physical, emotional, relational, and spiritual well-being whilst I am a student of this programme.

I also understand that whilst there will be taught content that is intended to be of benefit to my personal and professional practice, that BTI cannot undertake to be responsible for how I utilise the skills and knowledge that I have learned as a student at BTI.
