

STRATEGY 2024 - 2028

Bethlehem Tertiary Institute Strategy 2024 - 2028

Ma te whakaaro nui ka hanga te whare, ma te matauranga e whakaū¹
Through vision a house is built, through education a house is stabilised
(Proverbs 24:3)

Ki te kāhore he whakakitenga, ka ngaro te iwi
Without foresight and vision the people will be lost

He honore, he kororia ki te atua
He maungarongo ki te whenua
He whakaaro pai ki ngā tangata katoa
Ka tuku ngā reo o aumihi ki a koutou katoa.

E whai ake nei ko ngā kupu māhere, ngā tuhinga rautaki mō ngā tau 2024-2028.
Ko te tumanako nui ia, ka aro katoa i ngā hiahia, i ngā wawata me ngā ūara o tō mātou Te Whare
Tauira o Peterehema tae atu ki ōna tutukitanga.
Hēoi, ko te whainga nui, ko ngā kupu o te Atua me ōna māramatanga.
No reira kia tau nei i ngā manaakitanga i runga rā i a tātou katoa
Ko Ihu Karaiti tō tātou kaiwhakaora

Our Foundation

BTI's first response to strategic planning is to ensure all developments emerge from and are consistent with our:

Mission of providing Christ-centered, Biblically-informed professional preparation, development and research for influential service

Vision of being a relational, responsive and transformational Christ-following teaching and learning community

Values of having a Biblical Christian worldview as formational, personal-professional enquiry and integration, a strength-based inclusive learning and missional community, Te Tiriti-informed practice and relationships within Aotearoa New Zealand.

Reflecting on Context and Change

In August 2023, the BTI Executive Leadership Team and Board of Directors met to prayerfully reflect on strategic outcomes achieved in recent years and envision key strategic directions going forward.

Whilst BTI adapted well to the implications of Covid-19 Lockdowns (2020 - 2021), pivoting almost seamlessly to provide online teaching for all students, other challenges - and thereby opportunities also - are now being experienced across the tertiary sector:

- TEC funding for tertiary providers has fallen in recent years relative to rising costs
- The TEC funding model means enrolment growth beyond TEC funding allocation for an institution is unlikely to receive additional funding unless the enrolment growth is in a programme targeted for investment by the TEC
- The impact of new digital technologies, in particular the rise and use of AI within education, means significant pedagogical adaptation and change as the parameters of what quality education is continues to evolve

- The current experience of high employment and the impact of Covid-19 on school students' learning, has contributed to fewer school leavers choosing tertiary study after school, especially those vocational pathways that require a Bachelor degree
- In recent years, a strong national downward enrolment trend in ECE, Primary and Secondary teaching education
- Increasing demand for culturally responsive pedagogies within education
- The TEC funding model for research will no longer be through the mechanism of Performance-based Research Fund (PBRF), with the potential implication of less government funding for research
- An increasing emphasis on globalization in education with online pedagogies, meaning tertiary institutions within Aotearoa New Zealand are looking to increase offshore engagement and procurement of increased numbers of international students

Strategic Directions

Central to any strategic planning undertaken by BTI is to first pray, seek and discern God's direction for the Institute. In doing so, five key strategic directions emerged from Executive Leadership Team and Board strategic planning in 2023:

- 1) Prioritise new programmes with new delivery options
- 2) Strengthen, consolidate and diversify delivery of current programmes
- 3) Shift to an increased international focus
- 4) Increase domestic engagement with churches and Christian communities
- 5) Enhance provision of professional learning and development (PLD) for industry and communities.

The intent behind these strategic directions is for BTI to both strengthen and extend our current delivery in order to more fully serve and faithfully represent God's love and hope for all the world. As such, our sense is that Isaiah's prophetic Word to the Israelites is also one for BTI at this time:

Enlarge the place of your tent, stretch your tent curtains wide, do not hold back; lengthen your cords, strengthen your stakes. (Isaiah 54:2)

In addition to the strategic directions which emerged from 2023 strategic planning, in 2024, consultation has been undertaken with institutional and programme leaders with further discussion by ELT and the Board, resulting in three further strategic priorities:

- 6) Review and streamline administrative efficiency and capacity
- 7) Advance our Te Tiriti informed practice
- 8) Increase commitment to our research capacity

Accordingly, BTI has established an Eight Dimension 2024-2028 Strategic Plan (see table below), with its operationalisation detailed in an Annual Development Plan.

In establishing a five-year Strategic Plan, it is worth noting that economic, social and political arrangements can and often do change. For this reason, we treat the plan as a 'living document' – reviewed annually to remain relevant. Accordingly, if one or more of the intended outcomes within the eight strategic dimensions no longer takes priority beyond routine operations, that dimension will not have a corresponding set of strategic goals for the year.

Faith in Practice

In prioritising a Strategic Plan that focuses on 'what we plan to do', we also remember the importance of 'who' and 'how' we are because we desire as an institute to be a 'faithful expression of the Kingdom of God on earth'. Therefore, as staff we meet regularly for Waiata/Karakia and Devotions and purposively seek to reflectively outwork and model Christ-likeness as a community. Our programmes are underpinned by conceptual frameworks which are informed by the Biblical meta-narrative and associated principles, and our hope is to have graduates who in addition to having relevant and well-developed knowledge and skills for their profession, also reflect the heart of God (Proverbs 4:23): motivated by love, inspired by hope, desiring justice and growing in faith (Micah 6:8).

As a Christian tertiary institution in Aotearoa New Zealand, we seek to grow our capacity and commitment to a Tiriti informed practice because we view Te Tiriti o Waitangi as the founding document of Aotearoa New Zealand; one that was birthed from Christian intention (via the work of the UK Clapham community, Church Missionary Society – especially Henry Williams, NZ Resident James Busby, the Colonial Office – Lieutenant Governor Hobson, Bishop Pompallier) to forge true partnership with Tangata Whenua and Tangata Tiriti, not as one people but as two peoples in a covenant relationship underpinned by values of respect, co-operation and faith.

Whether planning strategically or immersed in our daily operations, BTI is a place committed to a distinctive vision of being radically biblical, holistically formative and contagiously influential.

Ka tū tahi tātou ki te kohikohi I te mātauranga
Hei oranga tinana, hei oranga wairua, kia tū tāngata ai tātou.
We gather to learn, to nourish, to flourish. Here we stand together.

All we do at Bethlehem Tertiary Institute is informed by the Biblical narrative, in that we seek to act justly, love mercy and walk humbly with our God (Micah 6:8), to love God and one another (Matt 22:37-40), to make disciples of all nations (Matt 28: 18-20, to be good and faithful stewards (1 Cor 4:2, Heb 13:17), to be a faithful expression of the Kingdom of God on earth (Matt 6:10), and to increase net shalom in the world (Num 6:24-26, Phil 4:7). To this end, all eight dimensions of our Strategic Plan are a reflective of BTI's Mission and Vision to provide Christ-centred, Biblically informed professional preparation, development and research for influential service through being a relational, responsive and transformational Christ-following teaching and learning community.
